

Chair

Raymond ROSSO

AAE

An engineering graduate of Ecole Polytechnique and ENAC, Raymond Rosso began his career at French space agency CNES. In 1993, he joined ENAC as head of Electronic systems. From 1998, at the DGAC, he was successively deputy director Technique and operations at DNA, deputy director of Programmes and strategy then deputy director of DSNA. From 1998 to 2012, at the ministry for Ecology, sustainable development and energy, he was deputy interministerial coordinator for the Galileo programme.

An independent expert, Raymond teaches at Eurosae. He has received the Médaille de l'Aéronautique, is a knight of the Légion d'honneur and an officer of the Ordre national de mérite.