

Prof. Michel Blanc

Biography:

Michel Blanc is a past vice-president for research of Ecole Polytechnique, Palaiseau, France and currently an emeritus professor at IRAP, Toulouse, France, heavily involved in the space exploration of the outer solar system, with participation to the Cassini, Juno and JUICE missions. He is a member of the Air and Space Academy, of the Academia Europaea and of the International Academy of Astronautics and coordinates the "Planetary Exploration, Horizon 2061" international foresight exercise.